Ways to Help Students at Loyola School, Rerua, India

Because of poverty and societal hardships, boys and girls in Rerua, India are not often given a chance to attend school. Father Walter Kongari, S.J., seeks to change this dynamic and ensure that the children have opportunities to learn, grow and thrive. St. Alphonsus Church, Woodstock, MD is blessed to be part of this ministry through prayer and donations.

Education offers hope to the future for Loyola boys and girls and their parents, who are illiterate and live in poverty. For an investment of $3,660.00, little Ranitha could receive a complete education, including room and board, uniforms and clothing, food, medicine and supplies from kindergarten until she graduates from high school. Alternatively, you could support a child such as Ranitha with a $305.00 annual contribution for these room & board expenses or by giving a $150.00 annual contribution for a day student's education expenses. Support is also needed for medicines, clothing, teacher salaries and new buildings for non-scholarship students. In her village where most children are hungry, uneducated, and lack the basic necessities, the Loyola School Rerua offers a place of hope - where there is enough to eat, a place to sleep, and a place to learn. The school was officially established on June 10, 2005, one short year after the Rerua Mission was founded. The elementary school started with just 13 children and has grown to over 400 students. Middle and high school students attend Chaira School across the river from Rerua. Amazingly, this is the seventh school that Fr. Kongari has established for the tribal people of India and his schools now enroll over 7,000 students.

If you sponsor a girl or boy, you will receive a photograph and letters from the student several times a year. Contributions for other Loyola student needs such as medicines, uniforms, housing, etc., offer a satisfaction that you are supporting a better future for these young children. Finally, you will be prayerfully connected to Christ's servant Fr. Walter as God's hand is truly touching him and this challenging and important ministry.

St Alphonsus Rodriguez Parish

The connection between St. Alphonsus Rodriguez and Rerua mission is based on a long-standing Jesuit to Jesuit parish relationship. It was strengthened when Fr. Joe Lacey, S.J. became pastor in 1999. Frs. Joe and Walter attended seminary in India together while Fr. Joseph Lerch, S.J. was seminary rector.

This sense of history, brotherhood, and deep spiritual bond is reflected in Fr. Joe's sermons and provides a spiritual link to serving the poor in India with the gospel messages. Parishioners respond by providing their prayers and financial support. It is indeed a special relationship.
